Just like coming home.
Welcome to Wilma!

Together. Attentive. Delicious.

These are Wilma's values.

Therefore, she shows you with this flower symbol on the menu that a dish or an ingredient is particularly sustainable.

What is different about us...?

Have a look what Wilma is doing!

Honey-sweet sponsorship

Wilma is committed to the preservation of bees and therefore obtains regional summer blossom honey from Gerresheim.

Wilma loves happy hens

Wilma's happy hens are allowed to stay outside all day to get lots of fresh air and selected food in the open air. A very chicken-friendly life!

Whether it's a bright yellow fried egg or tender chicken breast - Wilma is all in for the responsible and humane husbandry of chickens in Germany, as well as short transport routes. Superb quality you can taste.

Pea power

Wilma relies on the pea power of "endori's" sustainable products: peas from their own farm in the Rhineland, without any soy, palm oil or artificial flavours.

Homeland love

For her magic drinks, Wilma adores the products made by the German company
THE YEAH LAB. You can find more information at www.yeahblend.com

Pepsi and Germany? Could that be? Well, of course: Pepsi is not exported across the great pond to Germany, it is actually produced here following the American recipe.
The producers use local water and it is bottled in Löhnberg, which guarantees short transport routes... and Wilma loves the taste!

Healthy soul food

Wilma's Pomom friends are living proof that soul food can be healthy: the colourful smoothies and smoothie bowls created by this German company combine lifestyle with a healthy diet, as they contain 100% natural fruit, no additives, sugars or preservatives.
The ultimate in vitamin power!

Amooooosed cows

The milk from Wilma's Leerdammer cheese comes from the initiative for grazing cows, an initiative to promote animal welfare.
For more exercise in the fresh air!

Gintastic

Wilma deems her partnership with Elephant Gin "gintastic"! The German company produces heavenly gin creations while supporting its own elephant conservation project in Africa. Find out more here: www.elephant-gin.com
